what's the alternative?

UK Jewish Film Festival

More than 40 new and classic films will be screened, covering subjects from a gay Israeli man's search for his 'missing piece', to echoes of the Holocaust. There will also be a smorgasbord of panel chats and director Q&As. UK Jewish Film Festival, various venues, www.ukjewishfilmfestival.org.uk, until 15 November

The Fantastic Mr Anderson

In anticipation of oddball writer/director Wes Anderson's fifth feature, The Darjeeling Limited, the ICA is giving fans a chance to see Anderson's other masterful films, including Rushmore, The Royal Tenenbaums and The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou. On Sunday, 18 November, there will also be a preview screening of The Darjeeling Limited. The Fantastic Mr Anderson, ICA, The Mall, SW1, www.ica.org.uk, 3-22 November

2007 favourite Breath (Soom), this festival includes classics from the Korean Film Archive, an animation day and contemporary films such as A Dirty Carnival and The War of Flower. There will also be a retrospective of top director Park Chan-wook's work. London Korean Film Festival, Barbican, Silk Street, EC2, www.barbican.org.uk, ends 8 November

Colombian Film Day Double Bill

As part of Colomblage, a one-day festival of Colombian culture, there will be a special double bill at the Riverside Studios. First up is The Snail's Strategy, about tenants living in an abandoned mansion, followed by Looking for Miguel, the story of a politician running for office. Both will be followed by talks with the directors. Colombian Film Day Double Bill, Riverside Studios, Crisp Rd, W6, www.riversidestudios.co.uk, tomorrow
